PERSONAL

Dear Sir,

Re: Traditional Medicinal Products

In response to your open invitation for comments on the proposed Traditional Medicinal Products Directive to be put to the EU, the following...

In one of your recent statements you said: "...there are signs of growing support in Europe for an initiative to achieve more effective regulation of traditional herbal medicines."

This 'support' as claimed, is not, from the psychological implication of the meaning that of 'encouragement' as it is clearly meant to imply. But rather, it is the covert pressure created by Pharma Cartel-dominant vested interests, including those within Allopathic Medicine and others paid by them within the EU, to force through this directive.

That this directive is being 'fast tracked' through the EU is proof of covert pressure as above indicated, whose interests are financial dominance and nothing less. This is the truth and the reality – money. More money to the predator moguls.

The Pharma Cartel's objective function is, if not to destroy the whole gamut of Alternative Medicine and Alternative Therapies, then it is to seriously curtail its functionality, its development, its stability, to eventual obscurity.

Their purpose? To maintain their stranglehold over the whole healthcare field. The facts and proof are already out there. I shall touch on this theme later.

But before proceeding further, please allow me to state my position, be it briefly, as follows:

1. My personal position is such that I have no commercial or professional vested interests in writing to you on this matter in support of Traditional Medicinal Products, (Herbal Medicine and the whole array of Alternative Medicine and Therapies.)
2. Were it that Allopathic Medicine (Modern Medicine) had a good clean track record, with a cut-and-dried history of actually 'curing' disease, I should not be addressing this matter at all.
3. Were it that the Pharmaceutical Industry, in their manufacture of organic-based and synthetic drugs had an untarnished track record, whose function was to actually produce drugs to ‘cure’ disease, I should not be focussing my attention on this grave matter.

The historical facts, sadly, prove the opposite in 2 and 3 above. But this I cannot address here. It requires volumes.

I would put it to you that thousands of such books and hundreds of thousands of scientific and medical papers have already been written on this dire subject around the world by eminent allopathic and alternative medical practitioners, each with impeccable integrity. And other writers and researchers, equally with unimpeachable veracity, many with genuine scientific backgrounds, and likewise, each with a real and sincere desire to help their fellow human beings.

To cite but one of many thousands of cases, is the work of the eminent late Professor Linus Pauling, twice Nobel Laureate. The only person ever to achieve this accolade and world acclaim. In his prime years, his scientific medical research and findings on the beneficial uses of vitamin C, and other vitamins, were, years later, trashed by the Pharma Cartel, Allopathic Medicine and the paid automatons of the media, because of vested financial interests.

In other words, the ‘establishment’ calculated that if tens-of-millions of people around the world took regular high doses of vitamin C it would actually cure their specific diseases, (I shall refrain from specifics here). Thus this would cause a great loss of revenue, adversely affecting the coffers of both the pharmaceutical industry and the established medical world.

It is therefore all and everything to do with the muscle and power of financial vested interests, naught else! Nothing, nothing less!

These are the greatest and more devastating CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY. Worse even than the terrible tragedies of the Holocaust!

This is the underlying reason and background for the proposed Traditional Medicinal Products Directive of the EU. More money-muscle to the predator vulture moguls!

Anybody who denies these realities is either sublimely innocently ignorant, or they have vested interests in one way or other by denial and or by their malfeasance. And I use a word not permitted by Members of each other in the House of Commons, Westminster: they are ‘liars.’

You said: “The aim would be to ensure the safety and quality of products on the market and more reliable product information so that the public can make an informed choice from a wide range of herbal remedies.”

This, I would respectfully say, is Blair-spin and is a psychological deviation from the reality and truth of the matter.

The safety and quality of the natural products is already established. The public already has informed choice. As you are well aware, herbal medicine has ancient historical roots in Britain, Europe and the rest of the world, going back thousands of years. If you remove products from the market place, for whatever fabricated reason, for which there is a hidden agenda, you remove that Divine ‘HUMAN RIGHT of choice’ from the consumer. You are therefore thrusting down the throats of the consumer what ‘you think’ and those who are paid by the Pharma Cartel claim they should have. This is not choice. It is dictatorship!

Scientific and medical proof shows that there is greater safety in the personal and prescribed use of Herbal Medicines (and Alternative Medical processes) than there is in the prescribed use of Pharmaceutical Drugs. The statistics are already out there. It has already been scientifically proven!

The use of nutritional supplements arose to counterbalance food nutrient deficiencies in people of diverse conditions, from malnutrition to numerous illnesses and diseases caused by the lack of specific vitamins and other food nutrients. Thus the cottage supplements industry arose, with, historically, a very good clean track record.

Then the Pharma Cartel wanted to dominate the supplements market. They found that they could not apply patents to vitamins or mineral supplements. The purpose being to stop other established companies producing them. So they started their corrupt processes of 'creating' international standards (Codex Alimentarius) and using trade agreements (GATT) to smash the opposition.

Their oppressive regime has been succeeding over the years, like Communism. Until, suddenly one day people woke up, and it crumbled!

The public representation and discussion of the Traditional Medicinal Products Directive is a sham. You have a department army of workers. If you extended your scope you could select two dozen or so and seek to scour all archives within the broad Alternative Medical and Health fields. You will find that there are thousands of books, hundreds of thousands of scientific papers and periodicals on the gamut of Alternative Therapies. With an analysis of all this material you would only come to an 'informed' and positively orientated decision in support of Complimentary Medicine and its modalities. The proof is out there. Please seek it out and read it!

It is a dishonest stance to invite interested parties to submit PROOF of their profession. You know very well, statistically, that people are generally not willing to extend themselves beyond the shell of their focus.

To put the matter simply, and to interpret your statement, your implication is: 'I believe you are guilty. If you claim to be innocent, prove it, but at your own financial cost!'

You must surely know that most of the suppliers and support personnel within the Alternative Medical and Health fields are very small traders, who do not have the finances to comply with the rigours of the proposed scientific evaluation of their products. In contrast, the following:

- Deaths caused by prescribed dangerous and toxic pharmaceutical drugs go into the hundreds of thousands annually globally. The statistics are out there to prove this!
- Life-threatening and serious long-term illnesses caused by prescribed pharmaceutical drugs go into millions annually globally. The statistics are likewise out there to prove this statement!
- Whenever a prescribed pharmaceutical drug causes a death, it is usually passed without a ruffle, because there are so many. To the establishment, it is but another one to be added to the statistics.
- Whenever a prescribed herbal medicine or an Alternative Medical treatment causes a very rare near fatality, it grabs headline news, and there are cries of 'regulation, regulation, regulation!' The media jumps on the bandwagon and becomes typically paranoid. Their negative paranoia sells papers or gives them added ratings and therefore revenue. And sometimes a mindless or vested interest party in Parliament tries to grab attention by focussing on the matter and demands the regulation of Alternative Medicines and Therapies.

The desired objective of the EU, to regulate Alternative Therapies, has absolutely nothing to do with safety issues! The safety issue is a red herring! It is a fabrication and an outrage.

Should this proposed directive be rubber-stamped it will become a Crime Against Humanity!

IG Farben

The first restrictions imposed in the world forcing down the available potency of nutritional supplements, was Germany (West), in the 1960's. This took place not long after the birth of the Codex Alimentarius Commission, Rome, Italy, in 1961, ostensibly created by the Food & Agriculture Organisation (FAO) and the World Health Organisation (WHO) of the United Nations, as a Food Standards Program. But in reality, the Pharma Cartel created it, whose origins go back to its birth with the creation of the conglomerate IG Farben in 1904.

After the Second World War IG Farben was broken up into smaller units, (BASF, Bayer and Hoechst). Not many years passed before the 'perpetrators' within the original monolith returned, like mercury in a shallow pan.

Ex-Chancellor Helmut Kohl, at the time of the creation of Codex, was a public relations lobbyist spearheading the Pharma Cartel, for the firm Verband der Chemischen Industrie, (VCI), whose bosses, with their money-muscle, later pushed Kohl into the position of Chancellor of Germany (West).

Thus, what followed, and as is the norm in the predatory world, Kohl paid back his paymasters by forcing through new laws restricting herbs and the availability and potency of nutritional supplements, and largely destroying the traditional Health Food shops (Reform Hause) in Germany. The arm-twisting and financial paybacks were exported to other countries forcing them onto the compliant roller coaster to fall in line. Thereby oppression, depriving the populace of their fundamental human rights to use Nature's Bounty as and when they chose.

Why do legislators not use the integrity with which they were born?

What is happening in the world of nutritional health and medicine today? It is no different to the tyrannous armies of the Moguls, the warring Barons and Princes of Europe, the Potato Harvest of Ireland, and other numerous Crimes Against Humanity committed by our 'leaders' in the name of personal profit!

Hidden agendas? There certainly are! Fundamentally, our political leaders, lawmakers and multinational business movers and shakers have not elevated their awareness from the predatory savagery of primitive man-beast. It further indicates that they have no conscience with regard to their actions adversely affecting the general population.

The issue of the proposed Traditional Medicinal Products Directive has everything and all to do with the financial vested interests of the established medical industry, of which the Pharma Cartel is the dominant player. It is everything to do with 'their' financial stake in the maintenance and creation of global disease, of which future diseases, created by genetically modified crops, has been calculated as another of their major wealth creators.

Their major wealth will not be derived from the patented GM seeds and crops, but from the new diseases directly created by GM produce interfering with and adversely affecting the human metabolism.

I would respectfully remind you of the recent scientific research commissioned by the Food Standards Agency, briefly as follows:

“British scientific researchers have demonstrated for the first time that genetically modified DNA material from crops is finding its way into human gut bacteria, raising potentially serious health questions. Although the genetically modified material in most GM foods poses no health problems, [so they like to claim to misguide us all], many of the controversial crops have antibiotic-resistant marker genes inserted into them at an early stage in development. If genetic material from these marker genes can also find its way into the human stomach, as experiments at Newcastle university suggest is likely, then people's resistance to widely used antibiotics could be compromised.” The findings were described as ‘insignificant’ by the agency (FSA). This is not surprising. The FSA is funded by the government to back up Blair policy!

You said in a statement: “Over the last year or so a consensus has emerged in this country on the need for improved regulation of traditional herbal medicines. The strength of that common view has enabled us to make a positive case in Europe for a more effective legislative framework. There are clear signs that a number of other Member States also wish to resolve the weakness of the present arrangements.”

Evidence is clearly apparent that governments within the EU, including the United Kingdom, fail to have the interests of their respective citizens to heart when debating or deciding upon individual and personal medical and health matters and nutritional supplements of choice. Personal power and or personal financial gain frequently decide their interests. Too many incidences of corruption at the highest levels within European Parliament and Commission have proven this to the present day.

As an example, a recent email protest campaign to the EU against the planned restrictions to impose limitations on dietary supplement potencies, organised by Dr Matthias Rath’s* World Health Alliance and La Leva di Archimede, Rome, Italy, clocked 604 million protest votes from more than 100 countries.

* Dr Rath worked closely with Professor Pauling for four years. Amongst their diverse medical scientific research, they collaborated on the nutritional deficiency causes of disease and their cure by addition to the diet of appropriate nutritional supplements.

The email petition protest was completely ignored through the sheer arrogance and bloody-mindedness of all relevant parties within the EU. (I use the expression advisedly, as having been used by a former British Prime Minister, concerning the attitude of certain persons within his own political party.)

However, it must honestly be said that a percentage of the 604 million figure was undoubtedly made up of multiple protest votes. Unfortunately I have been unable to glean the actual percentage figure at this time. But if one calculated, as a rough estimate, that 25% of the total were actual multiple votes, it would reduce the net protests to 453 million, which is still a considerable number to be listened to.

Notwithstanding the actual net total of protest votes to the EU Commission, the final number represents the greatest block protest voting by private citizens ever around the world, and this against the planned corrupt legislation being proposed by Europe.

It is the height of the greatest arrogance and I must say, corruption, that the EU Commission dismisses such an enormous peaceful protest.

In consideration of this, and whilst I have always and shall always personally abhor the fact, is it not surprising that some people periodically feel the ‘need’ to resort to violent protest against governmental policies around the world, in order to make their protests known?

Political leaders state that citizens should use the ballot box. But when fraud takes place, as was clearly the case in Florida at the last US Presidential Election, what do the public have? They certainly do not have truth and justice from their leaders and decision-makers.

Is it that our leaders, legislators and power mongers are so corrupt and devoid of sensibility that they disregard the peoples' needs and human rights and indeed, their voices of protest within, what they like to tell us, our democracy?

It is our fundamental Divine Human Right to use as we will the apothecary of the whole of Creation as and when we will, unchallenged and uninfluenced by corrupt biased regulatory systems and corrupt scientists whose paymasters influence their 'scientific' research conclusions.

Not so many years ago, and it continues today, advocates of Allopathic Medicine endeavoured to undermine the diverse Alternative Medical modalities, including herbalism, homeopathy, acupuncture, etc., as old-fashioned, antiquated, innocuous, useless, frivolous or fictitious, etc.

Today, because Alternative Medical modalities, including the use of Nutritional Supplements, have been gaining ground over the years, for their greater efficacy and safety of use, the money-powered Pharma Cartel, including aspects of the dominant medical industry have been doing its utmost to curtail its effectiveness, and frequently refer to some of them as dangerous.

In the animal world we may term this form of harassment as predator vulturism.

The one-sided imbalances reflected in the proposed Codex Alimentarius issue, to reduce the potency level of Nutritional Supplements across the board through the Traditional Medical Products Directive and what is currently prevailing in the pharmaceutical drugs monolith is, to any normal intelligent person using deductive reason, shameful and blatantly corrupt.

A few years ago Dr. Matthias Rath, wrote in a letter to German's Chancellor Kohl: “The 'Codex' Commission is overwhelmingly composed of representatives of German and international pharmaceutical corporations, and its aim is to set world wide guidelines for vitamins, amino acids, minerals and other dietary supplements. Spearheaded by the German pharmaceutical corporations, this 'Codex' Commission plans to ban, on a world wide scale, any health statements in relation to vitamins, be it preventive or therapeutic. Moreover, the only vitamin formulas which would still be available would have to meet the arbitrary restrictions of the 'Codex' Commission. The nations that do not comply with these restrictions are faced with economic sanctions.”

The plan of action of Codex Alimentarius

In October, 1996, the Codex Alimentarius Commission met in Bonn, Germany. The meeting was specifically to make drastic changes in the regulations that govern dietary supplements throughout the member nations.

The proposals of most concern were put forward by the German delegation ('Proposed Draft Guidelines for Dietary Supplements'), sponsored by Hoechst, Bayer and BASF. (The IG Farben clan). It is not the first time that the United Nations was closely linked with Nazi war criminals.

Their purpose was seemingly to “....create a set of international standards to guide the world's growing food industry and to protect the health of consumers.” If there was ever a farce this was one of the greatest. The Pharma Cartel's proposals called for the following:

“1. No vitamin, mineral, herb, etc., can be sold for prophylactic (preventative) or therapeutic reasons

2. Natural remedies can be sold as food but they must not exceed the potency (dosage) levels set by the commission. This means that consumer access to dietary supplements will be limited to the RDA dosage as a maximum limit for vitamins (vitamin C - 60 mg, vitamin E - 15 mg, etc.). Supplements without an RDA (e.g. coenzyme Q10) would be illegal to sell because they would all become drugs.
3. Codex [Alimentarius] regulations for dietary supplements would become binding, eliminating the escape clause within the General Agreement of Tariffs and Trade (GATT) that allows a nation to set its own standards. This applies to all member countries of the UN. Any nation that does not accept and apply these new standards will be heavily fined by the World Trade Organisation (WTO) creating the potential of crippling entire sectors of that nation's economy.
4. All new supplements would be banned unless they go through the Codex approval process.”

Why do not legislators wake up to such frauds? Is it because many of the prime movers are part of that deception?

To illustrate such fraudulent imbalances, the following:

Food Labelling:

- The current food labelling laws are divisive, unnecessarily complex and spattered with get-out clauses for the corrupt food manufacturer.
 - a.) Labelling should be simple and to the point for manufacturers to adhere to, such as:

“Contents: A named list of the entire ingredients, including all fruit, vegetable and animal foods, their by-products and derivatives, with percentages of contents; all synthetic derivatives of any and every nature and form, with percentage of contents. This should also include substances whose contents are parts per million and per billion. For instance, where a food has been washed or cleaned with a substance added to the water, that substance should be specified, as forming a constituent of the final product.
 - b.) Any derivatives or synthetic substance added to food, which have any damaging health effects, should be prohibited. That is, they should be made illegal, such as MSG, Aspartame, etc., etc.
 - c.) Hormones and other substances added to milk, and in the feed of chicken and animals, should be labelled on all products, by-products and derivatives containing those substances or the sub-derivatives of those substances.
 - d.) All food products containing GM produce, or derivatives of GM produce, should be labelled as such, even down to parts per million or per billion. Including by-products of GM produce.

Fluoride:

- Toxicology results of Fluoride conclusively prove its high toxicity level. Hundreds of case studies have proven this. Tens-of-thousands of victims of fluoride poisoning are recorded. Fluoride is a "persistent bioaccumulator" of industrial waste and industry's largest pollutants. Fluoride is by far the most toxic to vegetation, animals, and humans. Fluoride emissions wither plants, cripples cows, and it even eats holes in stone. Investigations were conducted at 46 sites in the Southeast part of the Ukraine, which had different levels of industrial pollution. Concentrations of fluoride and 16 other macro and microelements were determined in plants (leaves and seeds) and soils, to determine if there were any quantitative relationships between levels of these elements and abnormal plant development. Damage criteria, such as the frequency of chromosome aberrations in root tips of Robinia pseudoacacia (L) seeds, determination of germination percentage, peroxidase activity of leaves and soils and quantity of microfauna were studied. It was found that among the environmental pollutants, fluoride was the most damaging. We learned that fluoride is a poison that accumulates in our bones. It has been associated with cancer in young males; osteoporosis; reduced I.Q.; and hip fractures in the elderly, to name but a few of the adverse health conditions associated with fluoride toxicity. Fluoride was first recognised as highly toxic among aluminium workers in the 1930's.

Fluoride is a toxic waste and is listed high in the US top 280 toxins.

Fluoride was also used as a mind-control agent.

a.) The use of fluoridated water, its addition to foodstuffs and toothpaste should be banned and made illegal.

MSG & Mercury:

- Many vaccines contain MSG and mercury, both highly toxic elements. Countless scientific papers prove the dangers associated with MSG and mercury. Many illnesses are caused by these toxins.

a.) These and all and every toxic substance should be banned and made illegal in vaccines.

Scientific Papers:

- All too frequently today scientific research is carried out on health, medicine, nutrition, food, nutritional supplements, etc., where the researchers publish or have their papers published by the sponsor, the results of which are biased in favour of the financial supporter. This means that the researchers fabricated their 'scientific' conclusions. It makes a mockery of science!

a.) All research findings must be supported by legally corroborative statements divulging all sources of funding of the research. It must be stated where there is vested financial interest and to what extent. If the paper was edited, abridged or influenced in any way by a third party, this should be indicated, along with the organisation they represent.

FDA Fraud:

- The U.S. FDA has a history of fraudulent malpractice against the interests of the American people, whose duty it is to protect them against fraud and injury by the medical establishment and the pharmaceutical industry.

The apricot kernel, which contains vitamin B 15, vitamin P. is one such. When it was found that the simple apricot kernel helped alleviate or cure cancer, and could be found in health food stores, they banned it. They raided shops selling its extract. The same happened with the bitter almond, which helps cure cancer. Pharmaceutical companies pressured the FDA to force the bans. People had to leave the country to obtain it.

The following is an extract from an aggrieved writer from the USA:

"...Holistic Alternatives is the successor to an Ohio company in business since 1973. FDA made a hobby out of raiding the company because founder Steve Michaelis, a registered pharmacist, insisted on selling dietary supplements that many people found helpful. Steve fought the FDA Nazis in court and won, which of course made them even crazier than they were. Steve is gone now and the company is run by his sons, Ken and Chuck, both of whom I have known since they were little guys at summer camp.

"Holistic Alternatives sells hydrazine sulfate and amygdalin, a food supplement better known as Laetrile. Amygdalin comes from the seeds of apricots and other fruits. Some doctors and patients say that these supplements are helpful in a therapeutic regimen for cancer. In a free country, doctors and patients can pick whatever treatments they like. Not here. Here, the only approved cancer treatments are chemotherapy (the drug companies), radiation (the oncologist, backed by the American Medical Association) and surgery (ditto). A doctor who tries anything else risks being thrown into jail and losing his license.

"My own doctor, the truly heroic James R. Privitera, M.D., has been taken away in handcuffs so many times, and your Intrepid Correspondent has exposed his tormentors in print so many times, that, before I make the trip to have lunch with him, I often call and ask, "Are you in jail?"

"FDA has now arranged the indictment of Ken Michaelis on sixteen felony counts. Yes, sixteen! For selling refined apricot kernels! If convicted of everything, he would be eligible for parole when William Shatner is retired from command of the Starship Enterprise in the Twenty Third Century. As I write, Ken is not [in] jail. The judge has allowed him to remain at large until the trial, if he agrees not to sell hydrazine sulfate and amygdalin, and if he agrees not to talk to his customers. Can you imagine trying to do business without talking to your customers?"

- a.) The richest and most powerful nation on hapless Planet Earth claims that it is one of the strongest advocates of democracy. Sadly, democracy died an agonising death in the United States of America a long time ago, and in its stead the phoenix of tyranny, oppression and dictatorship was born, through the guiding hand of domineering and deceitful commercial power. America exercises dictatorial powers unheard of since Nazism, Communism, Maoism and Fascism. It has become the most extreme of all Western nations, with corruption in government and business of the highest order, and an oppressive police state second to none, but equal to Nazism.
Sadly, Britain is being lead down that same road!

You said: “Over the Summer we expect to find out whether there is sufficient EU-wide support for the European Commission to bring forward proposals on a formal basis.”

This is a clear statement that this proposed directive is being fast-tracked! For what reason? Fast-tracking legislation is only done for the following reasons:

- a.) Because there is genuine public need and urgency.
- b.) The legislators’ purpose is to thwart public discontent at the draconian proposals.
- c.) To restrict or block prolonged representation from interest groups.
- d.) Acceding to pressure from the financial vested interests to press forward with the plans.
- e.) The legislators themselves have a personal financial interest.
- f.) The legislators have a bloody-minded attitude towards peaceful representation on matters that are against the public good.
- g.) Dictatorship!

You said: “When considering a possible Directive, we would be looking for a secure regulatory home for genuine traditional herbal remedies which have minimal safety concerns, are used for minor indications, but currently have difficulty in demonstrating efficacy to the standards normally required of medicines.”

Once again, this is psychological Blair-spin. You have clearly stated here that your decision has already been finalised thus: ‘to restrict a wide range of traditional herbs and dietary products that clearly have beneficial use for severe and chronic health conditions.’

All herbal products are ‘traditional’ whether they emanate from Europe or elsewhere.

- It is noteworthy that the oldest Herbal and Natural Products Purveyor within the United Kingdom, G. Baldwin & Company, of Walworth, London, were established in 1844. They, as well as hundreds of other suppliers of natural products and thousands of health food stores, will be seriously adversely affected by any negative decision that you or Europe may propose.
- It is clear that thousands of other natural product purveyors, which existed for many decades in Germany, Italy, Norway, France and other countries, where Health Freedom of Choice was curtailed years ago, were virtually, overnight, like the ‘shards and jackboots of Crystal Nacht,’ slain by the draconian pens of their respective lawmakers – for their personal gain!
- Certainly, hundreds if not thousands of businesses will have to close in the United Kingdom.
- Tens of thousands, whose livelihood depends upon the continued functionality of this major service to the population of Great Britain and Europe, will find that they will be out of work.
- Hundreds of thousands of UK citizens, and indeed, millions throughout Europe, and tens-of-millions throughout the world, whose continued well-being is dependant upon the regular or periodic use of natural herbal or nutritional supplementary products, will have their lives devastated by the vultures against peaceful citizens and their wellbeing.
- And many, many deaths will inevitably have been caused!

You said: “We would expect any Directive, which emerged to provide considerable flexibility for Member States. This would allow Member States to reflect their own national traditions within regulatory arrangements based on clear European and national parameters to protect public health. We also wish to promote the single market where feasible for those traditional herbal remedies, which are in widespread use across the Community.”

I would remind you of the following considerations:

- a.) In 1990 an estimated 50,000 people died in the USA after taking a prescribed antiarrhythmic drug, which caused cardiac arrest. Your counterpart, the U.S. Food & Drug Administration (FDA), approved the drug without any controlled clinical studies. This is not infrequent with the FDA.
The scientists or heads of the pharmaceutical firm, the FDA, who approved this toxic drug, who were implicated in this heinous crime, were any of them brought to justice? No!
- b.) Cardiovascular disease is at the top of the list of western industrialised diseases. Mortality rates are among the highest. None of the methods of the Allopathic Medical world is able to reverse the disease.
More than fifty years ago it was conclusively proven in clinical trials by J.C. Paterson, Cardiologist of Canada that vitamin deficiency is a primary cause of heart attacks and strokes. It is estimated that 12 million people a year die from heart attacks and strokes globally annually. Cardiovascular disease is considered by some to be one of the largest epidemics ever.
Yet, Dr Matthias Rath discovered the cure more than twelve years ago in the simple form of high potency vitamin C.
- c.) In the U.S.A. deaths from food allergies, food poisoning, etc. number around 3,000 per annum.
Deaths from natural health products are approximately 1.5 deaths (less than two) per annum in U.S.A.
Around 120,000 deaths per annum in U.S.A. are attributed to prescribed pharmaceutical drugs.
- d.) In Germany it was reported that 616 people died worldwide after using Viagra.
In a study regarding Viagra fatalities, 522 people died, most of them from cardiovascular causes in an analysis of 1,473 major adverse event reports about Viagra to the USA's FDA.
In 2001 - Viagra earned Pfizer over $1 billion in sales.
- e.) As part of a fast track approval process on 29th January 1997 the U.S. FDA approved Rezulin. Rezulin's manufacturer achieved $2.1 billion in sales in three years since it came on the market.
Press reports alleged that the FDA dismissed explicit warnings of danger from Rezulin use. Rezulin had been linked to at least 33 deaths due to liver injuries by December 1998. Britain withdrew Rezulin in 1997 after deaths due to liver failure were associated with the drug. Yet the FDA failed to withdraw it from the US market. Rezulin was linked to 90 liver failures, including 63 deaths and multiple non-fatal organ transplants by 2000. As reporting of the incidents to the FDA was voluntary it is not known how high the injury and mortality rates were.
It is also considered that Rezulin use may contribute to congestive heart disease and heart failure. Rezulin was finally withdrawn from the U.S. market in March 2000.
It is claimed that Warner-Lambert Co., makers of Rezulin, underplayed its adverse reactions with liver damage in its early reporting to the FDA. The company was well aware that more than 12 people suffered potentially life-threatening liver damage during clinical trials.
Were any of the Warner-Lambert executives or the FDA, brought to justice? No!
- f.) The U.S. FDA reported that between 1993 and 1998 a total of 184 deaths were attributed to the use of herbs and supplements. Most of these were connected with weight loss formulas.

That figure should be compared with the reported total number of 100,000 deaths each year; of people who die in hospitals as a direct consequence of the side effects of prescribed pharmaceutical drugs.

To that should be added another 100,000, representing the number of patients killed in hospitals from medical error. It is estimated that every year more than 2 million people require hospitalisation resulting from the adverse side effects of drugs.

It is believed that the total number of adverse reactions and fatalities attributable to prescription drugs is considerably more than the numbers reported.

- In 1990 prescription drug sales reached $37.7 billion. In 1998 they rose to $122 billion in the U.S. When measured by returns on equity, sales and assets, Fortune magazine ranked pharmaceuticals the most profitable of all industries!
- In the year 2001 the total global sales of pharmaceutical prescription drugs grew to $392 billion.

Can it now be seen from where the pressures against the Alternative Health movement emanate?

Dozens more real statistics could be added to fill several books.

These are the reasons why the Pharma Cartel and the Allopathic Medical world are in great fear at the increasing expansion of Alternative Medicine and its modalities.

It is the underlying reason why the power moguls are trying their utmost to curtail the development of Alternative Medicine and its modalities. It is all to do with the balance of money-power!

Give the people greater power over their own lives and the power-mongers lose their muscle!

In the animal kingdom, of lions, the dominant male reigns supreme over the pride, until another greater, stronger, more powerful lion topples him; the same with other animal species. So it is exactly the same in the human world. Many leaders behave like animals, with respect to the animals. Many of them have not used their Divine-given consciousness to elevate themselves above their lowest energy centre.

The recent scandals of Enron, Anderson and other multinationals are just the tip of the iceberg. As we are seeing in the real world, the ice is melting in the South and North Poles. This is an image as a reminder, reflected in the created corrupt human monoliths; given time they will eventually crumble.

And lastly, I would respectfully remind you further, in the best of Human traditions, it is within the Alternative Medical arena that revolutionary approaches to the medical and healing arts have been germinating and breaking open new paradigms of physics. Concepts, which, in their early stages, are derided by established medical doctors, scientists and media automatons, were, years later, reluctantly acknowledged. In some cases where the inventor was a well-known scientist, their concepts, once shown effective, achieved great acclaim. But alas, the corrupted money-muscle of established medicine intervened and many of these great pioneers, whose joy it was to assist their fellow human beings, were destroyed by the mindless automatons and corruption of the establishment. Some of them murdered, to protect the vested interests of money and power. The field is too vast to indicate in this small address to you.

This is the way Britain is being lead through Europe under the Medicines Control Agency, whose function it is to protect 'establishment medicine!' It has absolutely nothing to do with the protection of the general public. This is a smoke screen! The interests at stake are the profits of the Pharma Cartel and the 'established' medical industry.

By meddling in matters of human evolutionary advancement, about which this matter has everything to do, you will, at worst, be destroying or severely setting back the clock of human progress and achievement.

I implore you to use the highest aspects of consciousness for the best possible advantage for humankind in your decisions.

Yours sincerely,

Philip Dawes,

About the writer:

In 1967 the writer became seriously concerned about:

- Bad or inadequate nutrition and its detrimental effects on human health and wellbeing.
- The dangers of agrochemical farming and forced livestock breeding and its adverse effect on human physiological and mental stability and function.
- The purity and nutritional content of processed foods and the adverse effect of many food additives on health and social order.
- In 1968 he set up the Foods Research & Educational Trust, and a year later Foodwatch. Their purpose was to analyse the nutritional content of natural and processed foods and award a symbol of approval to foods that attained a high nutritional content and minimal toxicity carried over from agrochemical farming and the processing of foods.
