Don't Let the Drug Companies Ban Your Vitamins!

Health care costs in America are sky-rocketing. Drug prices are the number one cause of why an increasing number of Americans can no longer afford health care. Yet these expensive drugs have been unable to reduce neither heart disease, cancer nor any other major disease. Moreover, according to the *Journal of the American Medical Association the harmful side effects of these drugs have become the fourth leading cause of death in America.

In this situation more than half of the American people rely on vitamins and other natural therapies, the health benefits of which have been documented by more than 10,000 clinical studies (www.pubmed.gov).

To protect their global markets of merely symptom-oriented patentable drugs, the pharmaceutical corporations have joined in a global effort to seek a world wide ban of all natural and non-patentable therapies. Under the umbrella of the 'Codex Alimentarius Commission', a sub-committee of the UN, the drug companies lobby is meeting this election week. Worst of all, no one knows about these unscrupulous plans because public attention is diverted by the war plans against Iraq.

The Bush administration and the newly appointed Food and Drug Administration (FDA) are now supporting this legislation that seeks to ban natural therapies world wide - including the USA. This is no surprise, since the drug and oil industries are backed by the same financial interest groups and represented by the same politicians.

Dr. Matthias Rath is the physician and scientist who led the breakthrough in the natural control of heart disease, cancer and other common diseases.

Two-time Nobel Laureate Dr. Linus Pauling considered Dr. Rath as his successor and stated: "Dr. Rath's discoveries rank among the most important discoveries in medicine."

The Dr. Rath Health Foundation is a non-profit organization dedicated to protect natural health freedom and peace. It continues the tradition of Nobel Peace Prize recipients such as Linus Pauling, Albert Schweitzer and Martin Luther King, Jr.
